BELLEVUE FLOWER SHOW

The annual exhibition held by the Bellevue and District Horticultural, Industrial and Poultry Society in the Bellevue arena on Monday (Labor Day) was quite up to the standard, and in some respects excelled, particularly in school art.

The attendance was fairly large,
the weather man having granted excellent weather and ideal roads on which to travel.

During the day a programme of sports was carried out on the sports field, while at night the usual dance windup attracted a huge crowd.

List of prize winners at both the exhibition and sports is not available for this issue, but will in all likelihood appear in next week's Enterprise.

SIMPSON-TOMPKINS

The beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony with nuptial Mass, celebrated in St. Anne's church, Blair-more, on Tuesday morning, September 3rd, by Rev. Dean Harrington, united Judith Kathleen Tompkins, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
C. J. Tompkins, of Blairmore, and Constable James Adial Simpson, son of Mrs. Frances Simpson, of Weyburn, Saskatchewan, and the late R.
W. Simpson, in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride, attired in an ensemble of powder blue chiffon gown, patterned on Grecian lines, with sapphire and diamond ornament; navy blue crepe hat and accessories, and carrying a cascade bridal bouquet of Talsman roses and ferns, was escorted to the altar by her father, while Miss Madeleine Chardon played the "Wedding March" of Lohengrin. Miss Helen Tompkins, sister of the bride, attired in peach silk organza, rosette embroided, with peach chiffon hair, also embroidered in pastel shades, was her attendant. Miles Tompkins, brother of the bride, was groomsmen.
The bride's mother was gowned in a costume of navy blue printed flat crepe, with blue crepe hat and corsage bouquet of roses. Miss Frances Tompkins chose for her gown a tunic costume with Roman stripes and ornament.

The groom's mother was in Vancouver, bidding good-bye to her daughter, a missionary nurse to India, so was unable to be present at the ceremony.

During the signing of the register,
Mrs. L. L. Morgan sang "All Joy Be Thine."

The church, beautifully decorated for the occasion, was crowded to full capacity by friends and well-wishers of the young couple.

After the ceremony, the more intimate friends of the bride and groom were guests at breakfast at the home of the bride. The daintily appointed table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, a gift, set amid Tal-sman roses and ferns, with tall blue tapers in cut crystal candlesticks.

Amid expressions for felicity in their future life by the assembled guests, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left by motor for a trip to the Pacific Coast, via Spokane and Seattle, the bride travelling in a costume of navy blue Romaine, with matching hat and accessories.

Upon their return, they will reside in Lomond, Alberta, where the groom is in charge of a detachment of the R.C.M.P.

The bride was graduated from St.
Mary's Academy, Winnipeg, in the class of '25, and was a talented and efficient member of the teaching staff of the Blairmore schools for several years. She took an active interest in the literary and musical organizations of the town, and her executive ability in such social sphere will be greatly missed. The groom was formerly connected with the R.C.M.P. detachment in Blairmore, and is well and very favorably known.

REBEKAHS TO GREET PRESIDENT AT NATAL

An invitation to Rebekahs and Odd-fellows of this district is extended by the Rebekahs of Natal, who will assemble on the night of Tuesday, September 17th, to welcome the president of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia, who is making her official visitations.

The Rebekah meeting will open promptly at 7 p.m. An intermission will be granted shortly after 8 o'clock, when brothers will be admitted to an open session, during which they will be privileged to hear over the radio an address on "Oddfellowship," to be broadcast by a prominent past grand sire from the assembly rooms of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, which opens the 1935 convention on that day.

Following this, a social evening and banquet will be held, at which all Oddfellows and Rebekahs will be welcome. Part of the programme will consist of the presentation of about fifteen jewels to veterans of both branches.

known mining engineer and owner of the Lee Lake ranch near Burnis.

Mr. Parker left Burnis a couple of weeks ago to take over a mining engagement at the coast.

Particulars of his death are not available. He was in his 73rd year, and of late years had been in enjoyment of fairly good health.

Mrs. Parker proceeded west on Tuesday. The remains will be laid to rest at Vancouver.

val will be held in Blairmore on than October 1st.

cial vocal class for juveniles up to competitor's own choice.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Eleven Anglican cathedrals in South Africa will each receive a stone from Canterbury cathedral in England in token of "friendship and goodwill."

The United States tariff commission was under orders to investigate the competition between domestic and foreign pulpwood. Canada is the largest seller of this forest product in United States markets.

The Lewis machine gun, standard equipment for the British army since Great War days, is being replaced as rapidly as possible by a new and lighter weapon produced in Czechoslovakia known as the Bren gun.

Demonstration of a batteryless telephone which generates its electricity from voice sounds has been made by three Montrealers. Armand Parent, Pierre Dufresne and Carmen Norasco.

Four workmen were killed and four wounded when a road construction laborer sank a pick into an unexploded Great War shell. The accident took place on the road between Venice and Tarvisio, Italy.

A show place among southern Alberta farms, the 7,000 acres owned by the Duke of Sutherland estate, near Brooks, have been purchased by the Eastern Irrigation District. Five thousand acres are reported irritable.

The Daily Herald declared today the Japanese government is preparing to open diplomatic negotiations with Great Britain, Holland and other powers "with the idea of securing emigration rights in the Far East for several millions of her surplus population."

Early this month between 70 and 80 young Canadians will be taken in to the Royal Canadian Air Force. From a "waiting list" of nearly 6,000 youthful flying enthusiasts the defence department has selected this number to begin their three years' course.

Announcement of inauguration of a monthly air mail service between Fort Chipewyan, Alta., and a new post being opened at Goldfields, Sask., was made by the post office department Sunday. Goldfields is situated on the north shore of Lake Athabasca, approximately 120 miles east of Fort Chipewyan.

Canada's Canning Industry

Three Provinces Supply People With Fruits And Vegetables

The canning of fruits and vegetables is carried on most extensively in the provinces of Ontario, British Columbia and Quebec, where climatic conditions are favorable for the growing. The principal fruits canned in Ontario are: Apples, pears, plums, peaches, cherries, currants, gooseberries, blueberries, raspberries and strawberries. In addition, British Columbia has the apricot and the loganberry. Other important canned goods were: Soups of all kinds 1,438, 523 cases and tomato juice 462,478. St. Thomas Times-Journal.

The pack in 1933 consisted of 1,201,275 cases of fruits and 4,531,542 cases of vegetables valued at $2,894,951 and $9,257,296, respectively. Of the canned vegetables packed, tomatoes rank first in the number of cases with 1,659,856, baked beans with 1,045,796 cases coming next, followed in order by peas with 822,890 and corn 401,856. Of the fruits canned, pears came first with 394,734 cases, followed by apples with 230,704 cases, peaches 161,015 and plums 130,716. Other important canned goods were: Soups of all kinds 1,438, 523 cases and tomato juice 462,478. St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Clerk—"These are especially strong shirts, madam. They simply laugh at the laundry."

Customer—"I know that kind; I had some which came back with their sides split."

Aztec medicine compared so favorably with European knowledge of the subject that Fraycristobal de la Vega, the Indian native medicine taught in the first college they established for natives of Mexico.

To be 70 years young is sometimes more cheerful and hopeful than to be 40 years old.

Has King's Medal

Indian Chief Proud of Present Given Sioux Tribe 150 Years Ago

Proudly displaying a medal given to the chief of his tribe 150 years ago by King George III, in recognition of their services to the British forces during the American Revolutionary war, Chief Sitting Eagle of the Pipestone Sioux, posed in Winnipeg for his picture recently.

"Chief," he was asked, "would you people consider taking this country back if it was offered to you?" The chief became indignant. "People, apparently, are always asking him to take the country back, and it's getting on his nerves."

"Ugh!" he snorted. "We had this country once, when it was in a lot better shape than it is now. Pale-faces won it, and Indian always plays for keeps. You got it, you keep it; no exchanges can be made on this goods, thank you," he declared.

The chief's medal, which he will hand on to his nephew when he goes to the happy hunting grounds, is as handsome as it is rare. It is one of seven which were struck following the war, and given to the seven chiefs of the Seven Nations. On one side is facsimile of the King and on the reverse side a picture of a lion and a wolf allied against an unseen foe.

The Sioux at Pipestone are not natives of western Canada, but came here many years ago from the United States. They do not come in for treaty money which the government disburses every year to Canadian Indians.

Birthday Of Panama Canal

Waterway Was Opened To Traffic 21 Years Ago

The Panama Canal, which shortens the route from New York to the Pacific coast by more than 8,400 miles, came of age on August 15. Since it was opened to traffic 21 years ago—Aug. 15, 1914—fulfilling a dream which led the Spanish to make engineering surveys as early as 1521, $39,566,620 in tolls has been paid for 82,673 passages of ships between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. The canal now has a capacity estimated at about 348 ships a day, although in the fiscal year ended June 30 the average number of daily transits was only about fifteen. The highest daily average was less than eighteen in the peak year of 1928.

U. S. Government Profits

Contents of Chain Letters Prove Rich Harvest

Send-a-dime chain letters promise to pay off for the United States treasury in a way to make envious the originators of that 40-day wonder of personal prosperity financing.

In Denver alone, reputed point of origin of the dime chain idea, 100,000 letters are impounded, with the contents to be turned over to the treasury after a year of gathering dust. Postmaster J. C. Stevic estimated the Denver holdings at $9,300 to $4,000.

Greatly Indebted

Of the late Bishop Ames, the following anecdote is told: While presiding over a certain conference in the West, a member began a tirade against universities and education, thanking God that he had never been corrupted by contact with a college. After a few minutes, the bishop interrupted with the question: "Do I understand that the brother thanks God for his ignorance?"

"Yes," was the answer, "you can put it that way if you want to."

"Well," said the bishop, "all I have to say is that the brother has a good deal to thank God for."

ASSISTING NATURE

By Jack Miner.

During the past year I have read a number of articles both in magazines and in newspapers, as well as many letters that come to me, on the subject of "Nature's Balance." I believe actions or systems on the part of man which the writer described as "Interfering with Nature," "Upsetting Nature's Balance," and so on. To all who adopt that attitude I should like to put myself on record to the effect that, personally, I believe the so-called "Balancing of Nature" was left entirely with man, and that I believe in assisting nature for the benefit of humanity. God created everything and then He created man "in His own likeness and gave him dominion over all;" that is, as I understand it, the power and authority to manage everything here on earth.

Look, for instance, at the animal world, with the live-stock. The farmer's barnyard, as example, God created the Jersey Cow, and Holstein, and the Hereford? No, He gave man the original stock and he, God, through man's instrumentality, developed many breeds, some for the high cream content of milk, some to produce the greatest quantity of milk, and some as the best beef cattle. All have been on earth a long time, of course, but their differences are the result of man's management. And, remember, man had to interfere with Nature to develop them.

Much the same thing is true of the Horse, different strains being cultivated for particular purposes. Clydesdales and Percherons for heavy draught work, and the blue-blooded descendants of original Arab stock for racing.

Recently I was in some of the southern States, where the character of the farm work to be done is so heavy for the common ass, yet where the climate is too warm to permit of the ass working to the best advantage of the continent, therefore, man has crossed the ass with our common horse and produced a creature which withstands the heat and is also strong enough to do the work of tilling the soil. Yes, he has developed the mule. But the mule kicked and so far as I know, has gone no further. In poultry, if you trace back various species, it is very easy to see that it has been the work of man that has developed the different breeds, Leghorns, Brahmas, Minorcas, Plymouth Rocks, and so on, some of which are especially valuable as layers, and others as food. Our much prized turkey is nothing more or less than the wild turkey, domesticated and improved.

Seventy-five years ago our Canadian north-west was grazed by millions of wild buffalo (Bos bison). Then came the white man who, realizing the value of the fertile soil, established a park where a herd was placed to preserve the species from extinction, slaughtered the great roaming herds, and turning the land upside-down, made it into one of the largest and most valuable of our great wheat-fields, with towns and cities and stately governmental buildings dotted here and there across its vast expanse. Remember, though, that in order to bring about this state of things, man had to "interfere with Nature," as some would call it.

And speaking of wheat-fields, wheat has been man's favorite food for centuries. Yet wheat, even as it was being grown in Canada in comparatively recent years, had certain weaknesses. It had to be planted in the fall and did not always survive the severity of the winter. It was not producing as abundantly as seemed desirable and it did not mature rapidly enough always to escape the early autumn frosts. Then came to our aid such men as Professor Charles Saunders, cerealist of Ottawa, and by study, experimentation and the rigid selection of choice grains, developed a wheat that could stand in the spring, that would yield several bushels more per acre than had been the type previously, and that would stand with a certain period of time, and that yet retained all its former qualities. We have to thank him for the wheat that we eat of other species of wheat, developed by man. God created the original, the germ; but man was given, and has used, the power to develop, manage and control it.

Or if you will consider your flower garden, look at the Iris. God gave to us in America a little, insignificant flower growing along the banks of streams, which we called, commonly, the "flag." From it man has developed the Iris that grows three or four feet high, varied in color, and some giving out an exquisite fragrance. But man had to interfere with Nature to accomplish this. Or take the rose, the "frag," that we call the "American Beauty Rose?" No, He gave man a little wild rose which served as the germ, so that, through the efforts of outstanding botanists, man has been given flowers of beauty and fragrance that the Creator intended should be done.

But let us look at another side of the question. At the same time God created a little wild rose. He created also the weed, typically of which is the Canadian Thistle. Still he gave man the means of controlling these also, so that they may be restrained from predominating in the plant world.

In your orchard are many varieties of fruit. Did God create the Stark Delicious apple, the Northern Spy, the Golden Wonder, the Red Pippin, the man the little wild Crab Apple, and the Hawthorne, which is a miniature apple of germ, and from these man developed what we have today. Yet, according to some people's statements, if you kill the mice that guard these fruit trees when they are small, you are "interfering with or upsetting Nature's balance."

If you are raising poultry, or other bird life, and have begun to destroy and take on the birds, and you fail to take a gun and shoot the hawks, then you are not using the brains God gave you.

If your clothing were to become infested with vermin, or with insects or rodents, you would destroy the insects or animals that were troubling you. Yet (if they were consistent in their argument) these people would have to maintain that in doing so you are "upsetting Nature's balance," since God created all these creatures at the same time. Or how about the fly, carrier of typhoid? Do you control it or, preferring not to disturb "Nature's own," let it live? Personally, I am glad He gave man "dominion over all" these things.

Indeed, one is moved to ask the question, What would our animal world, our farms and orchards and gardens, and whole world be like if man had not assisted Nature? Yet the very minute the white man discovered this continent, came ashore, cut down a tree and began to develop North America into a garden for hundreds of millions of people, that man, according to some, disturbed the balance of Nature.

As for me, I thank God for all He made, for the raw materials He gave us with which to work; that He made us in His own likeness, after His own image, and endowed us with sufficient brains to develop those raw materials and keep on discovering and bringing forth the best of us and the blessings He created. To illustrate my meaning, allow me to quote the poem, "Making a Garden," written by Ida M. Thomas:

Man ploughs and plants and digs and weeds,
He works with hoe and spade;
God sends the sun and rain and air,
And thus a garden's made.
He must be proud who tills the soil
And turns the heavy sod;
How wonderful a thing to be
In partnership with God!

I say, He wants all of us to be partners.

Household Arts

by Alice Brooks

Here's what the well-gloved woman will be wearing this fall with her frocks and light-weight coats! And she won't mind showing her hand either. The nicely-dared cuff of these crocheted gloves have just the right fit over fall sleeves. Note the interesting contrast of the cuff design with the plain crocheted of the hand. And how beautifully and comfortably that glove does fit! All stitches are easy, and work up quickly in light-weight wool.

In pattern 6431 you will find directions for making the gloves shown in a small, medium and large size (all given in one pattern) and an illustration of the gloves and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 178 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

There is no Alice Brooks pattern book published.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 8

LYDIA AND FRISCELLA
(Christian Women In Industrial Life)

Golden text: Give her of the fruit of her hands; And let her works praise her in the gates. Proverbs 31: 31.

Lesson: Acts 16:11-15; 18:1-3, 24-28; Romans 16:1-6.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 31: 10-31.

Explanations And Comments

Lydia A Merchant at Philippi, Acts 16:11-15. After receiving the call to "come over into Macedonia and help us," Paul and his company called on Troas to the island of Samothrace, thence to Neapolis and then on to nine miles inland to Philippi. This city was a Roman colony, and claimed the distinction of being "the first of the district." We know that there was great rivalry among cities in the Roman Empire.

Evidently the city had no synagogue, or Paul would have gone there when the first Sabbath came. He supposed he would find a place of prayer by the river side (as was customary), and going there he was not disappointed. He met there a company of women, among them a prosperous merchant named Lydia. She was from Thyatira and dealt in purple-dyed garments. She must have been a Jewish proselyte, for it is said that "she worshipped God."

Priscilla (a Tentmaker at Corinth, Acts 18:1-3). From Athens Paul went on to Corinth, and there found a home with Aquila and Priscilla, Jews who had lately come there from Italy because they had been driven out from Rome by the Emperor Claudius. They were tentmakers like himself, and he lived and worked with them at this time.

Priscilla, a Teacher of Apollos at Ephesus, Acts 18:24-28. After spending eighteen months at Corinth, Paul departed for Jerusalem. Priscilla and Aquila accompanied him as far as Ephesus, where they settled. A little while later, named Apollos, a native of Alexandria, came to Ephesus. He is mentioned again in Acts 19:1, 1 Cor. 1:12; 3:4-6; 4:6; 16:12; Titus 3:13. He was eloquent and mighty in the Scriptures and taught in the synagogue about Jesus, though he knew nothing of John the Baptist; that is, he had been instructed and baptized by the disciples of John the Baptist, and while his knowledge of Jesus was accurate as far as it went, it was somewhat limited. Priscilla and Aquila heard him, recognized his earnestness, his fervency of spirit, and also his defects, and taking him home explained to him the way of God more accurately.

Boy Is Good Canner

Takes Many Prizes For Vegetables, Fruits And Pickles

Red currant jelly, canned strawberries and raspberries are preserves that Allan Heagy, of Stratford, can make better than any girl under 16 years of age at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto.

He won first prize with his red currant jelly in the handicraft exhibit. For pickles, gherkins or mixed, he placed second. He showed that feminine hands meant nothing to him when it came to preserving raspberries and strawberries, another first prize for him, and then his canned peaches, canned mushrooms and mustard pickles couldn't be equalled by the girls.

Magnetic Sweeper Useful

Picks 291 Pounds of Metal Objects Off Texas Roads

Magnetic highway cleaners have removed large quantities of nails and metal objects from South Texas highways.

In the 18-mile stretch between Pharr and Mercedes, the machine removed 291.5 pounds of nails, scrap iron, tin cans, wire, bolts and other objects.

On highway 66, in Brooks county, the machine recently picked up 111 pounds of metal. The machine is operated by the Texas highway department.

Like the little girl who was wont to lose her whereabouts, Canadian folk occasionally loses its identity. Practically all of the flour imported into Haiti is of Canadian origin, but the greater bulk of it being shipped to Haiti through United States ports is billed as a U.S. product.

The East Indian banyan tree is distinguished by the fact that roots descend from its branches and become auxiliary trunks, thus permitting the tree to extend over a wide area.

Little Journeys In Science

ALUMINUM

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Aluminum is a comparatively new industrial metal. Iron, copper, lead, tin, and the precious metals have been used by man for ages but aluminum is only one third as heavy as iron. The industrial metals are all heavy substances, while aluminum is about one third as heavy as iron. Iron, the chief structural metal of the past, rusts easily, whereas aluminum is little affected by air or moisture.

The story of the discovery of an economical method for extracting aluminum from its ores is a most interesting one. A young American scientist, Charles Hall, decided that the decomposition of the ore by means of electricity was the best method to use. The large-scale process of today is practically the same as the one devised by Hall in his workshop in 1886.

Aluminum resembles tin in appearance and can be easily hammered into very thin sheets. It is fairly hard and strong, being superior to most steels in tensile strength, but not equal to steel. It is a very good conductor of heat and electricity and forms alloys quite readily with many metals.

The properties of aluminum, especially when it is made into alloys with certain metals, make it suitable for a great variety of uses. Its lightness, strength, and resistance to corrosion make it suitable for all kinds of construction purposes that range from kitchen utensils and small containers of all kinds to an engine base and a ship's hull. It is used in the construction of modern office buildings as much as 100,000 pounds of aluminum are required for such purposes as roofing, cornices, window frames, ornamental fittings, and even furniture. Gas tanks, storage tanks, and truck bodies are being made of aluminum, and the automobile and aircraft industries absorb approximately one third of the production of this new industrial metal. In a single year the washing-machine industry required over 21,000,000 pounds.

In a finely divided state, suspended in a suitable oil, it is used as a protective paint for metal objects, such as steam pipes and radiators. It has wide use as a thin foil for radio conductors.

Aluminum finds an important use in the manufacture of thermite which is used extensively for welding. Thermite consists of a mixture of iron oxide and aluminum powder and when ignited a chemical reaction which takes place producing very great temperature. By means of thermite a broken part in a machine can be welded without taking out the machine apart, which is certainly a great advantage.

England Builds New Houses

Over Two Million Have Been Erected Since Armistice

Sir Kingsley Wood, minister of health, opening St. Andrews Gardens at Liverpool, England, said that since the armistice no fewer than 2,670,500 new houses had been built in England, said Sir Kingsley, and the capital cost involved and derived from the state, the local authorities and the private capitalists during that period amounted to $9,000,000,000.

Sir Kingsley declared that the policy of the ministry of health had not led to a lowering of housing standards, and denied that there was a craze for cheapness and an indifference to the quality of the houses provided.

Superstitious But Polite

Ziegfeld Risked Bad Luck Sign Rather Than Appear Rude

The story was told at Saratoga's Arrowhead Inn. Florenz Ziegfeld, who was most superstitious, had taken over the hotel at Monte Rio, King Edward entered the room, placed his foot on the rung of Ziegfeld's chair, and asked: "Do you mind if I watch?"

"Not at all, your Majesty," the producer replied. Flo then proceeded to drop $400.00. Not once during this session did the superstitious, but polite—Ziegfeld ask the ruler to remove his foot from the player's chair—considered a bad-luck sign by all gamblers.

This Robin Was Clever

Called Man To Help Rescue Mate From Snake

The story of a robin which called a man to rescue its mate from the jaws of a snake was told Friday.

George Swan, attracted by a bird screaming and flapping against the back door of his home, went to investigate. The robin flew away as he approached, appearing to call him on, and Swan followed.

It led him to the end of the garden circling close to the fence, calling loudly. There in the grass Swan saw a snake with another robin in its mouth.

He killed the three-foot reptile with a stick and the two birds flew away together.

One of the most important of all the factors bringing about the alteration of prosperity and depression, says the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, is the output and value of agricultural products. In a country such as Canada, where agriculture occupies a large place among the economic activities of the nation, the crop yields cannot but affect the general business.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-bell, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market place, he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and miss the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then return to Cousin Columbine's.

There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy and Matthew Adam go Christmas shopping in a neighboring town. On their return to Pine Ridge, Nancy is amazed to see the Columbine residence all lit up, and asks Matthew if he knows why. He said: "Let's go in and see." The Nancy learns that she is having her debut, but in a different setting than had been planned for her in Boston.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support to her request for books, and a sizeable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adam boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorated the room look presentable.

Now Go On With The Story

To the natives of Pine Ridge the Aladdin Library seemed wonderful enough as it was. "And how every one of those blessed Adams had worked!" thought Nancy with gratitude. Father Adams's next letter-press adorned more than the hundred books which Juanita and Mary Taylor had helped her cover with brown paper. They had had fun over it, too. Some of the work was done on winter evenings, and Jack and the Adams boys had joined them, as well as a good-looking forest ranger who appeared at church one Sunday, and had contrived to appear at the Nelson mansion at frequent intervals ever since!

Mother Adam made and donated cretonne hangings for the windows. Matthew and Mark had built the shelves; low shelves which gridded the whole room, made from lumber they "just found lying around the place," and stained dark brown. Even John, busy at school, appeared one week-end with a dozen books; and when too much for him to carry, he took them to the schoolhouse. Transformed a cheerful Chinese red, these proved such a success that he insisted on painting Nancy's "desk" as well, and a table for magazines found in Aurora's cellar; while his mother sacrificed a wicker parlor chair, cushioned to match the hangings at the window.

"This place would be almost cozy if it weren't for the bare walls," said Mary Taylor. "But don't you mention the lack of pictures before Juanita. No knowing what impossible contribution she might bring in!"

Nancy smiled, and answered: "I'll save in Cousin Columbine's attic. I saw an old engraving of Lincoln up there the other day."

There was also one of George Washington; and Mary and Juanita, that afternoon with what she said her mother called "a yard of authors," photographs of the New England poets framed in oak.

Eve Adams laughed when she saw this offering.

"It brings things back, Nancy. Stored in our attic is a yard of roses, and we had a yard of kittens in the nursery. That idea used to be all the rage."

"Gee, Mum! I remember those kittens! This was Mark pausing as he adjusted a crooked window shade. They had blue ribbons 'round their necks and extraordinarily long whiskers! But these are good photographs, Nancy. They'll add a literary touch to our decorations."

No wonder Nancy felt a thrill of pride at the result of her planning. Out of what a few short weeks before had been a bare and useless room, had blossomed this cheery little place; and already the people of the village were asking if it couldn't be opened every night. Ten days ago they had had their "house warming," with hot chocolate and doughnuts for refreshments—a party which even Victor Tubbs had raised himself sufficiently to attend!

This had been on a Saturday, and the minister who conducted services in the Pine Ridge church twice every month, arrived in time to make a speech. Nancy hadn't counted on that; but it was a good speech and she liked the minister despite the fact that he referred to her as "our dear young benefactor." Indeed, at this point in his address, Jack had been stricken with an attack of choking, and at least four Adams had winked in her direction; while the sophisticated Nancy Nelson had felt her ears grow scarlet with confusion.

Nancy smiled at the memory. She was feeling particularly happy this afternoon for good news had arrived from home. Dad was making a new start with a splendid firm, and had been offered an unexpectedly good price for the city house.

"In some ways it's a wrench to give it up," wrote her mother, "but we can't lose this chance; and in any case we shall stay in Edgemore for several years. Phil loves his school; and I am loving the life of a country town again. It's such a joy to see your father his cheerful self once more. These anxious months have brought him some grey hairs; but he's happy and interested now, and wondering if you're not almost ready to come home."

Home! The girl drew a long, long breath. It would be wonderful to see Dad and Mother and Phil and the aunt and all the old crowd; of course, but Cousin Columbine was going to miss her frightfully. And she couldn't leave until the library was running smoothly and she found somebody to fill her place.

Nancy leaned forward, lifting a child's bank which she placed on the desk for voluntary contributions, and smiled as a reassuring rattle met her ears. The first donation had come from a small girl who said, as she dropped in a shining penny: "It's to help your library, Miss Aladdin." Nothing had ever pleased Nancy half so much as this innocent mistake in her identity. Matthew Adams, who overheard it had thrown her a smile of appreciative understanding; while his father was so delighted with the appellation that he'd addressed her as Miss Aladdin ever since.

The bank had flourished. Yesterday Juanita had contributed the price of three confession magazines, and was really enjoying some decent novels. Two boys from the nearby ranch whom Nancy had supposed little better than morons, were devouring good travel books; and the wife of a health-seeker two miles back of the village, told Nancy with her eyes that it seemed "like heaven" to have something to read again.

"And to think," said Cousin Columbine when the girl recounted this pathetic incident, "that I've been too thoughtless to look up those people and see their needs. But so many sick folks come and go that we make too much for granted. I'm ashamed of myself. No wonder they call you Miss Aladdin!"

Steps sounded without, and Nancy glanced up. It was not yet two o'clock, but someone was coming. Then the door swung back to reveal her brother and Matthew Adams. Luke was about again now; and Jack was job hunting.

"Any luck?" asked Nancy, as the boys drew up two gay red chairs. Matthew nodded.

"Your kid brother seems to profit by the misfortunes of others. Luke breaks a leg, and Jack gets his job. And now my Uncle Tom (Mother's brother, who has a ranch out on the plains), is down with flu along with two of his men, and has sent an S.O.S. for one of us fellows to help draw out the money from the unlucky number, and Jack's going back to the ranch again to take his place."

"Well!" said Nancy. "I'm sorry to have Mark go, of course, but it's marvelous for Jack; and sometimes there are complications after flu!"

"A lot of sympathy you have for Uncle Tom!" grinned Matthew. Nancy laughed.

"I was merely wondering how long the job would last. Time goes so rapidly; and some day we've got to turn our faces to the East, you know."

Jack said nothing; and suddenly Matt's color rose.

"Why—you're not leaving us this spring, are you? I—I mean Miss Columbine said you'd stay a year!"

"I know; but such a thought never entered our heads, Matt. And now Dad's made another start I'm pretty sure they'll want us to come home. Not that I don't dread leaving Cousin Columbine. I'm awfully afraid she's going to miss us."

Jack, still silent, arose and went over to a window. Matthew sat looking into space. "Some—some of the rest of us will miss you too, Nancy," he said surprisingly. "There's Mother and—and—"

Nancy laughed outright, and asked, eyes lighted with merriment: "Why spoil a pretty speech like that, Matty?"

"Spoil it?"

Jack came back, grinning, and slumped into the cushioned chair.

"She means, old man, that this was no time to mention Mother! Forget Nancy, have we got to go home this spring?"

"You don't want to?" questioned his sister.

"Do you?" he countered.

The girl was silent, looking down at the toe of Matthew's boot. "I don't know, exactly," she said at last. "I'm used to see every one at home, of course; though I'd rather stay here through the summer. But I wonder if Cousin Columbine won't miss us even more if we leave her in the fall. Spring's a cheerful time of year, you know; and she's getting old."

It was Matthew's turn to stand at the window, from which she stared out. He said over his shoulder: "You're going to leave a big hole in Pine Ridge, folks."

"Well," observed Jack, "we haven't gone yet, feller; and don't they tell us that it's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all?"

He laughed, but Matt, still gazing at Pike's Peak, responded soberly: "Whoever wrote that bunk was feeble-minded," and added, moving toward the door, eyes turned disapprovingly at the girl. "Come on, Jack, we must get going. Mark'll drop in to-morrow to say good-bye, Nancy. Luke's driving him to the Springs where somebody from Prairie Ranch will pick him up. He says he jumps as if he were sentenced to Siberia, though it's the first time he has jumped at the chance of going to Uncle Tom's! I—I wonder why?"

Nancy smiled at this subtle compliment, and went to the door to watch the boys depart. There was a glimpse of the plains from her little porch, as they lingered a moment; the girl asked, her eyes on that undulating vista: "Does your uncle live right on the prairie, Matt?"

"The young man nodded."

"Sixty miles out, in a big old rambling ranch house surrounded by a big corral, a bull pen, and some plains are wonderful, Nancy, and sometimes treacherous, too. We'll take you out after the weather's settled. No knowing what thrilling adventures we may have!"

Light words. . . Matt little thought that only a few weeks later they would come back to him during long, tragic hours which none of them was ever to forget.

Place Of Historic Interest

Fort Churchill Eloquent With Stories of Courage and Disaster

The other day Fort Churchill, Canada's northern port on the Hudson Bay and the prairie's back door to the salt sea, was celebrating the opening of its shipping season. As a public issue the development of Churchill has been almost talked out. It was ridiculed and bitterly attacked when the main were being laid and the grain terminals were under construction. But as a place of historic interest it has great significance and fascination.

For more than three hundred years ships have sailed into the Hudson Bay from the ports of Great Britain and Europe. Into it came the early explorers in their search for the northwest passage to the Orient and Cathay. By this route the first live stock and the first piano ever brought to the opening west were freighted by sturdy sailing vessels.

And at Churchill English and French held forts now crumbled into ruins. Here the Danish explorer, Munk, in the early part of the seventeenth century, survived a bitter winter in which most of his companions perished. Many decades later, in 1812, the gallant Selkirk settlers struggled with nature in the environs of the port; held their chins high through a steady test of cold before they could start on the trek to their new homes in the south. Churchill is eloquent with stories of courage, treachery and disaster.

The sub-Arctic holds its lure to the adventurous to this day. The annals of this new Canadian port may still remind us of the determination of the pioneer explorers and settlers to conquer the hostile barriers of nature in a new land.—Hamilton Spectator.

The Anthony Eden Touch

London Busman Made German Passenger Feel At Home

Whether London Transport is aware of it or not, at least one of its staff possesses the Anthony Eden touch.

On a west-bound 19 bus a young German seated in front of me tendered his money with the word "Piccadilly." The conductor asked which end of Piccadilly he meant, but the passenger's English was limited to the one word "Piccadilly."

Thereupon the conductor broke in to assist German, and the matter was adjusted. The delighted passenger moved to seat beside the door, and a long conversation, glowing with international amity, followed.

They parted with effusive Auf Wiedersehens.—London Daily Sketch.

Egyptian Shorthand

Papers Recently Discovered Show System Many Centuries Old

Three pieces of ancient Egyptian "paper" were discovered not long ago. On them were marks which proved very interesting, for they were clearly a system of shorthand many centuries old. Actually these treasures date from the third century A.D., and there could be no doubt about them, for there was a perfectly good longhand "translation" given with the shorthand signs. It was this last fact which made the documents most interesting, for it gave the key to the mysterious marks which until then had been mysteries that nobody was able to explain.

Demand For Maps

Search For New Mineral Deposits Calls For Detailed Information

A marked increase in the demand for maps, among prospectors, sportsmen, foresters, engineers, and other classes, is reported by the Topographical and Air Survey Bureau of the Department of the Interior. During the last fiscal year 90,000 copies were distributed by the bureau, in comparison with approximately 70,000 during the preceding year.

The intensive search for new mineral deposits during the year was an important factor in the increase. While the desire of sportsmen to secure detailed maps of an area, when planning fishing, hunting or canoe trips, had a marked tendency to further increase the demand. The fact that a great many of the maps of the bureau are made from photographs taken from the air, thus ensuring a completeness of detail that does not prevail in the case of the older maps, also contributed to the increase.

A total of seventy-two maps of different districts throughout Canada are in course of preparation by the bureau and many of the areas being covered give promise of early mineral or other development.

A catalogue of the 1000 or more maps at present available has been published and copies may be obtained, without charge, upon application to the Surveyor General, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

WM. ABERHART VICTORIOUS

"Vox populi Romani."

The people have given voice to their hopes and aims and William Aberhart is the unowned king of Alberta.

The election resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Social Credit political party. Alberta voters do not do things by half measures.

So now, if Mr. Aberhart's promises are carried out, inside of eighteen months in Alberta we will have:

A monthly social credit dividend for all adults (who co-operate) of the equivalent of $25.00;

Fair prices for all products and goods offered for sale;

Plenty in the midst of plenty and no unemployment to speak of;

No increase in taxes and no confiscation of wealth in any form.

Well, it is a nice prospect to look forward to, and we hardly blame the people for so enthusiastically supporting such a proposal.

Our doubts lie in the teachings of cold, hard Experience. Things don't just fashion themselves that way in this unhappy world.—Hanna Herald.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS REVENUE

MONTREAL, Que., Sept. 2.—For the month of July the Canadian National Railways all-inclusive system, after payment of operating expenses, had net revenue of $1,121,381. This was an increase in net of $432,936 as compared with the corresponding month of 1934.

The official earnings statement issued here shows operating revenues were $14,886,392 while operating expenses were $13,765,011. In July, 1934, operating revenues were $13,932,275 and operating expenses $13,304,830.

For the seven months of the present calendar year, operating revenues totalled $95,029,714, an increase of $1,539,692 as compared with the same period of 1934. Operating expenses were $91,729,269, an increase of $3,306,232. Net revenue to the end of July, 1935, was $3,300,445, a decrease of $1,766,540 from the net for the same period of 1934.

WHERE TROMBONE PLAYERS GO

A wag asked a professor what happened to trombone players when they died. The learned man said that he did not know much about trombones, but neither does anybody else or no one would play them.

"I suppose the good players are sent to the top floor to entertain the ladies at afternoon tea," he said. "As to the bad ones, they no doubt are herded in disgrace to the domain of Memphis where to the moan of sick cows and trombones played out of tune they are forced to dance barefooted on red hot tacks, being allowed one-half hour each week to pick the tacks out of their feet."

NEEDED SHOCK?

This Aberhart election will shock the mind of Canada into the needed changes of money and credit. It should. These changes are years overdue.

Why?

Because machines have made foods and goods plentiful, but an archaic money system and debt structure are still trying to keep them scarce.

With the tremendous wave of Liberal feeling sweeping the country, it is not surprising that one province should take the bit between its teeth and indulge itself in radical Liberal experimentation.

For, after all, Social Credit is really a left-wing branch of Liberal thinking.

And the Liberal party should not delude itself into believing that it has a monopoly on Liberal thinking in Canada.

What this Alberta election proves is that money and credit are the paramount issue in the public mind of Canada, and the United States, too. At the first chance to make credit plentiful and cheap enough to distribute the products of machines, one section of Canadian public has overwhelmingly voted to try out a system that promises such correction—a system which the Liberal party itself has pledged itself to scientifically investigate.—Vancouver Sun.

GOLFER'S DIRGE

"I think that I shall never see a hazard tougher than a tree—a tree o'er which my ball must fly if on the green it is to lie; a tree which stands that green to guard, and makes the shot extremely hard; a tree whose leafy arms extend to kill the mashie shot I send; a tree that stands in silence there, while angry golfers rave and swear. Niblicks were made for fools like me, who cannot ever miss a tree."

PPHHWWERRR!

What we don't know about Social Credit would doubtless fill a large library, but there's one thing about the Alberta landslide which tickled us right up 'n down the old vertebrae. Alberta's hardy, free-thinking sons and daughters had enough stamina to speak their minds in no uncertain manner, and so make crimson-faced fools of all those newspaper smarties who were so busy writing about "the collapse of Social Credit" just prior to the election. Phooey to them from us, too!—Shaunavon (Saskatchewan) Standard.

● Watch in your own home how The Blairmore Enterprise—or any other good newspaper—is read. Possibly coming events is a first matter of interest; and perhaps the main headlines on the front page are scanned; but it a pretty safe thing to say that women readers will turn very early to the advertisements of local firms which advertise fashion items, and other offerings related to current needs and desires.

● Every woman knows what she wants—not perhaps in the precise form or color, or variety or manner, but certainly in the main matters of her desire or need. This applies to clothes, hats, shoes, food items, beauty preparations and many items pertaining to home furnishing. And so women are eternally on the watch for information—and for temptation! They are swiftly perceptive of the advertisements which present and propose the things of their desire or need. And obviously it is those retailers who advertise to them who stand the best chance of their custom.

● It is the same in the case of men. Few men buy impulsively. When they leave home each day for their place of employment, it is not just to get rid of their money. What they buy is, mainly, something whose purchase has been planned—clothes or other forms of apparel, hardware items, motoring sundries, shaving and other bathroom needs, plants, books, and so on. Men, like women, have been reading advertisements in line with their ripening desires and intentions, and of course they go in largest numbers to those retailers who have been informing them and soliciting their custom.

● All of us, instinctively, go where the light is, not where the darkness is. Advertisements are the light, and so they attract the buyers to those stores which they illumine.

● The way to get business is to ask for it. Can the truth of this statement be successfully disputed? And here is another equally true statement: The public buys from those who invite its custom.

Premier-elect Abernethy has announced that under the new government there will be neither confiscation or repudiation, but that the credit of Alberta and its securities will be maintained to the highest extent. He asks that obstruction and criticism be withheld till the new government has had a reasonable time to formulate a plan and put it in operation with as little disturbance to existing conditions as possible, and that all parties co-operate with him in this effort. Personally we think Mr. Abernethy's request is reasonable. He has undertaken a tremendous contract and has received a mandate from a large majority of the electors to carry it into effect. Such a change as Mr. Abernethy proposes to make must be recognized by all thinking persons as one that will take time if it can be effected at all, and Mr. Abernethy should be given the twelve or eighteen months he asks for. And in this connection, we believe Mr. Abernethy has less to apprehend from those who opposed him than he will find if he has from some of the more unreasonable of his own supporters who will expect him to convert Alberta into a modern Utopia over night.—Okotoks Review.

Motorists---Take It Easy

The highways of North America are dotted with thousands of motor cars as people travel from city to town and town to city, and as they proceed on business journeys. Almost every one of these cars is a high-powered vehicle, capable of doing almost incalculable damage unless handled with judgment and discretion. Whether you and your friends enjoy the motor trip you may be making depends not on the speed you travel, but whether you arrive safely at your destination.

In the United States last year there were almost one million motor accidents, with 36,000 deaths. The accident and death rate in Canada is almost as high, Ontario last year recording 512 deaths and 8,990 accidents which were not fatal, but many of which meant people scarred and maimed and intense suffering for hundreds.

In the driving of a car, a man reveals himself. It is the thoughtless, selfish, reckless driver that is largely responsible for the toll on the highways. What is gained if a man arrives at his destination a few seconds ahead of schedule? Why do so many men, when seated behind the wheel of a car, act like boors and leave behind them every vestige of courtesy and consideration for others?

The motor is a wonderful invention, but in the hands of a man without judgment or balance, it is a terrible instrument of destruction, leaving death and maimed lives in its wake.

In the August issue of that popular little magazine "Reader's Digest" there appeared an article entitled "And Sudden Death" which has attracted continent-wide notice and hundreds of thousands of reprints of which are being distributed throughout Canada and the United States. The only regret is that a copy cannot be placed in the hands of every person who drives an automobile. It is a gruesome recital of what automobile accidents really are—a realistic portrayal of scenes witnessed every day on the highways of this supposedly civilized continent.

The automobile, says the writer of this article, is treacherous, just as a cat is. It is tragically difficult to realize that it can become the deadliest missile. An automobile 65 or 70 miles an hour is like a bullet. At 65 an hour is 100 feet a second, a speed which puts a viciously unjustified responsibility on brakes and human reflexes, and can instantly turn this docile luxury into a mad bull elephant.

Collision, turnover or side-slip, each type of accident produces either a shattering dead stop or a crashing change of direction—and, since the occupant—usually in the driver's seat—is in the direct line of the impact, speed, surface and angle of the car's interior immediately becomes a battering, tearing projectile, aimed squarely at you—inescapable. There is no bracing yourself against these imperative laws of momentum.

It's like going over Niagara Falls in a steel barrel full of railroad spikes. The best thing that can happen to you—and one of the rarer things—is to be thrown out as the doors spring open, so you have only the ground to reckon with. True, you strike with as much force as if you had been thrown from the Twentieth Century at top speed. But at least you are spared the lethal array of gleaming metal knobs and edges and glass inside the car.

Anything can happen in that split second of a crash, even those lucky escapes you hear about. People have dived through windshields and come out with only superficial scratches. They have run cars together head on, reducing both to twisted junk, and been found unharmed and arguing bitterly two minutes afterward. But death was there just the same—and he was only exercising his privilege of being erratic.

And every time you pass on a blind curve, every time you hit it up on a slippery road, every time you step on it harder than your reflexes will safely take, every time you drive with your reactions slowed down by a drink or two, every time you follow the man ahead too closely, you're gambling a few seconds against agony and sudden death.

There is an old legal phrase that "time is of the essence of the contract." This is not true on the highway; the reverse is true. Your duty as a driver is to bring safely home not only yourself but your family and friends who may be travelling with you. Equally, it is your duty to your car as to in no way endanger others but to allow them to likewise reach their homes in safety.

Rebuilt By New Method

Worn Machine Parts Made As Good As New

Fired at the speed of a rifle bullet, particles of hot metal rebuild worn machine parts by a new method. Screw heads are cut into the surfaces to be repaired and then the metal is sprayed on the grooves and ridges in such a way as to "freeze" and become part of the metal under treatment. The spraying is done with an electrically operated gun that "shoots" the metal particles through a tiny hole in the nozzle at 2,700 feet per second. The rebuilt parts are smooth and polished with abrasives, giving long wear. Piston rods, cylinder walls, shafts, bearings and turbines are among the parts treated successfully.—Popular Mechanics.

Jubilee Week Was Busy

King's Secretaries Replied To Over Ten Thousand Messages

Statistics just available give some indication of the work performed by His Majesty's secretaries during Jubilee week. During the period May 3 to 9 the King received 10,264 telegrams from every conceivable part of the world. Every sender of a telegram within the British Isles, no matter what his rank or station in life, had a reply sent him by His Majesty or by one of the private secretaries. Overseas messages were similarly answered, the more important by cable, but many by a personal letter from the King's secretaries or His Majesty's representative in the Dominions or Colonies.

A new metal, invented by a British firm, is lighter than aluminum, as strong as cast-iron, cheaper than brass, impervious to sea-water, and can be bent when cold. It is in use by the admiralty.

Worked Under Difficulties

French Engineers Had Hard Job Building Hotels In Algeria

As the French penetrate further and further southward into the Sahara, pacifying the roving Arab tribes as they go, hotels are being erected for the accommodation of Government officials, visiting Army officers, business men and the occasional venturesome tourist. The hotels had to be taken south, through the desert, in parcels. Each parcel weighed about 200 lbs. and was one camel-load. Caravan after caravan, travelling forty-five days through sands, brought to Timimoun, in the far south of Algeria, the many tons of windows, doors, glass, china, linen, cutlery, furniture, electrical installation and other equipment needed for the local hotel. Neither foreign nor European laborers would agree to go there, so the place was built by French army engineers, who themselves had to trace in the sand the first outline of the building because the superstitious wild Arabs of the region feared The Evil Eye, and would not have anything to do with blue-prints. They did consent to make the mud bricks, however, which form the walls, and to drag up to the site the date-palm trunks forming the roof beams and "girder-work." The rest had to come in parcels. Even the ships of the desert bringing the parcels were temperamental. They would not travel on even such good roads as were to be found along their line of route, but had to be steered over soft sandy courses. Camels suffer from bad spells of foot soreness unless allowed soft tracks.

Drama Festival Finals

Dates Are Set For 1936 Contests In Western Canada

Regulations covering the 1936 Dominion drama festival provide for contests in 11 regions into which Canada is divided for competition, with a final week in Ottawa beginning Monday, April 20.

Issued by J. A. Aylen, honorary secretary-general of the festival, the regulations set the following dates for English play regional festivals in western Canada: British Columbia (Vancouver), Jan. 27 to Feb. 1; Alberta (Calgary), Feb. 6, 7, 8; Saskatchewan (Saskatoon), Feb. 13, 14, 15; Manitoba (Winnipeg), Feb. 20, 21, 22.

Regional festivals for French plays will be held in Quebec City, Montreal and Ottawa on dates to be arranged and announced later.

No play performed in the finals at Ottawa in 1934 or 1935 will be eligible for presentation in 1936, the regulations set forth. As in the past, the festival will be restricted to one-act plays or single self-contained scenes from longer plays which occupy not less than 20 and not more than 45 minutes.

Direction of the festival again will be in the hands of Col. H. C. Osborne, honorary director, and an executive committee. In each region a regional committee will have charge.

Lighthouse Heroine Dead

Madame Matelot Won Overlaid Fame On Belle Isle

Mme. Matelot, heroine of marine tradition, died recently at Lorient, France.

It was in 1910 Mme. Matelot (the translation of whose name is "sailor") leaped in one agonizing night to world fame, won the admiration of mariners the world over, and subsequently the Carnegie Medal for heroism and the Legion of Honor.

Her husband was the lighthouse keeper at Kerdons Light on Belle Isle. As he was about to set the light in motion one twilight it would not throw its warning rays across treacherous shoals.

Times Have Changed

Back in the good old days a boy could go to a picnic and have a dandy good time on two bits. He would ride the merry-go-round a couple of times, drink a glass of red lemonade and spend the other dime for a ticket to a minstrel show. But how things have changed. A boy of the same age in these fast-changing times will spend at least $2 or $3, and blamed if he believes he has as good a time as the boy who took a quarter with him for his day's expenditures at a picnic.

Predicts Horseless London

Ministry of Transport Working To End Mechanized System

Within five years, it is predicted, the London dray horse will be so rare in London as to be regarded as a curiosity, the streets of 1940 being practically entirely free of horses. The Ministry of Transport is hastening this condition by plans to substitute horse-drawn traffic by a completely mechanized system, and some of these plans will be carried into effect shortly.

The busiest streets in London will be closed to horse-drawn traffic in the near future, say regulations soon to be issued by the department. Already there is a device operating in Oxford street between certain hours. Later an edict will be issued that horse-drawn vehicles will not be allowed in London at all after a period of from six months to five years.

Under existing traffic legislation, the Minister of Transport, L. Horne-Bellah, has power to put an end to traffic by horse in London's streets. His department, however, has no intention of driving horses from the streets until their owners have had fair warning.

Eastern Excursions

Bargain Fares Offered By C.P.R. and C.N.R. For Early Autumn Trip

Popularity of early autumn bargain fares to eastern Canada last year has induced the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways to offer similar travel privileges in September of this year, according to an announcement by Joseph B. Parker, western secretary, Canadian Passenger Association.

This fall weather rate, attractive after the heat of summer, begins with a ticket sale from September 21 to October 4 and bears a final return limit of 45 days in addition to the date of sale. Stop-over privileges go with the tickets within a limit at the stations of Port Arthur, Armstrong and east.

Tickets will be honored in coaches, tourist or standard sleepers on payment of fare according to the accommodation desired. They will be on sale from all stations from Port Arthur, Armstrong and west, including Pacific Coast points to all stations including Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Cochrane and east.

Not Empty Handed

An Italo-Albanian dispute has arisen in a restaurant—the Albanian, a commissionaire at an Italian restaurant, gave notice that he was returning home to join the army. As he was leaving the building, the Italian proprietor noticed he was carrying a large bundle. Asked what it contained, the man replied "revolvers." But police summoned to the scene discovered it was a quantity of the restaurant's silverware.

Cleaning Railway Coaches

The latest method of cleaning railway carriages is that used by the German Federal Railway. The carriage is run into a huge airtight cylinder into which is pumped a strong disinfectant gas. The carriage remains in the gas long enough to allow it to penetrate every chink and corner, so that all harmful bacteria are killed.

INCOME TAX PROBE EXPECTED TO YIELD RESULTS

London, Ont.—The Dominion government is conducting an income tax investigation which may bring the federal treasury several millions of dollars in tax arrears, it was disclosed here. The income tax department is probing unregistered shares of large Canadian industries, it was learned.

In its investigation the department expects to collect large sums of unpaid income taxes from many of Canada's wealthy men. The probe will go back for a period of from 15 to 20 years.

The investigation in this district is being conducted from the office of George Tumbler, London district inspector of income tax. Disclosure of the investigation came shortly after the commission investigating the seven Spencer estates met here to officially wind up its work.

Commissioner John Cowan was appointed to investigate the estates of the family that pioneered in the oil industry. After a series of public sittings the case was settled.

Until recently there has been no check on the ownership of bearer share warrants or unregistered stock, it was said. Now, however, when coupons from such stocks are cashed at banks a certificate of ownership must be filed with them.

It was said the income tax department was using these certificates of ownership to carry on a Dominion-wide investigation.

When a certificate of ownership is filed with a dividend coupon the department will check back to see if the person filing the certificate reported income from the stock in the previous year. If not, he will be asked to explain why he didn't.

If he replies he did not own the stock in the previous year the income tax department asks from whom he obtained it. Then the previous owner will be checked to see if he declared his dividends on the stock in his income tax returns.

Each unregistered stock certificate is being checked back from year to year, and owners are being made to account for their income from the stock.

Officials said there will be no public inquiry into unregistered shares. The investigation is being carried on in district offices.

Express Rate Reductions

Lower Costs On Long Haul Shipments Now Effective

Montreal.—Rate reductions on long-haul heavy express shipments became effective over the lines of all railway express companies in Canada Sept. 2, it was announced by the Express Traffic Association of Canada. The new rates are said to represent more than 20 per cent. reduction.

Some time ago express rates on packages 15 pounds and under were considerably reduced, but in order to take advantage of the new shipping rates frequently found it necessary to split large shipments into small packages. This entailed an increase in packaging costs which are said to be removed now. The present reduced rates on packages 15 pounds and under will remain in effect.

Ontario Relief Payments

Hon. David A. Croft, Ontario minister of welfare, said.

Preserve Body of Lenin
Moscow.—Prof. Boris Zharsky said the body of Nikolai Lenin, father of Communism, may be preserved for the next 100 years. He is one of the inventors of the secret process of embalming by which Lenin's remains were treated 11 years ago. The professor said he and his colleague, Prof. Vladimir Petrovich, were satisfied beyond all expectations.

High Price For Book

Half Million Asked For Copy of Lawrence's Last Book

New York.—The highest price ever quoted on a book at publication will astound those who inquire next winter about "The Mint," by Aircraftman Ross.

The price is $500,000 the copy. Aircraftman Ross is T. E. Shaw and T. E. Lawrence and "Lawrence of Arabia." He used the name Ross for a time in an effort to avoid publicity when he was with the air forces.

His criticism of living men, of British institutions and of the profession of soldier and several other things are described by one who has seen the manuscript as so stringent that publication may not be had in England for many years, if ever. Lawrence wished it to be protected, but kept out of circulation.

So the book is to be set up and printed by Doubleday, Doran and Co. Two copies will be sent to Washington to secure copyright; 10 copies will be kept for sale. But it is not believed that there will be any takers at $500,000.

Plan Brought Results

New York Relief Takers Prefer Work To Jail

New York.—New York's "work or go to jail" policy for relief recipients produced what an official called "amazing" results in its first test. Applicants were reported by observers to be taking works progress administration jobs at the rate of one a minute in some offices.

It appeared about 5,000 laborers had been removed from the relief rolls to jobs in one day. When relief offices opened a line of men and women awaited to take the $55-a-week relief jobs. Over the weekend they had read an edict that those who refused work would first be cut off from relief and then, if they proved stubborn, be prosecuted for failure to support their families.

Objects To Reported Remarks At Soviet Gathering

London.—It was learned from an informed source here that Great Britain protested at Moscow through Viscount Chilton, British ambassador, Aug. 19, against remarks expressed at the recent congress of the third international.

Georgi Dimitroff, who was elected to the permanent executive committee at the closing session of the congress, was reported to have said in a speech the National government in Britain was clearing the way for Fascism, and Communists in England were working for a return of a Labor government with a view to establishing a Soviet regime.

Douglas was appointed financial adviser to the Reid government, having a two-year contract. He will continue under the Aberhart administration.

Re-Opening As Scheduled

Edmonton.—University of Alberta will re-open September 23 as scheduled, it has been announced by Geoffrey Taylor, assistant registrar and spokesman in the absence of Registrar A. E. Ottewill. Putting an end to rumors that have been current since the provincial election, university officials state that they have received no notification that the college would not re-open on schedule.

Paderewski On The Air

Will Broadcast Program From Switzerland On October 12

Geneva.—Paderewski is going on the air for the first time. From the living room of his villa at Morges, between Geneva and Lausanne, on the shore of Lake Geneva, he will play an all-Chopin concert for 90 minutes, Saturday, October 12. The international radio cast was arranged by the Societe Roman de Radio-fusion. American handling is over the WJZ network of the National Broadcasting Company, from 10:30 to 12 noon, E.S.T.

No other concerts are planned by the Polish pianist this year. Fritz Kreisler now remains the only world-famous artist to refuse going on the air.

Left Children To Starve

Woman Beheaded In Germany As Punishment For Crime

Berlin.—Charlotte Juennemann was beheaded in punishment for the crime of allowing her three children to starve to death. Willy Gehrik, 23, was put to death by the knife for robbery and murder.

Frau Juennemann, young, slim, blond, was convicted last March after testimony had been given that she had squandered in cafes and dance halls the money she had received for the relief of her three boys, four, 18 months and four months old. "I had no time to give the children food and water," the police quoted her. She was the fourth woman to lose her head on the chopping block this year.

U. S. POLICY IS TO KEEP NATION OUT OF WAR

Washington.—A mandatory law embodying a policy intended to safeguard the United States against war received the approval of President Roosevelt.

A ceremony at which he had intended to sign the legislation, however, was postponed to suit the convenience of members of congress invited to attend. Those receiving the invitations had participated in framing the legislation, which marks a reversal of the Wilson neutrality program.

The Pittman-McReynolds proposal directs the president to proclaim a mandatory embargo on arms to all belligerents in event of a declaration of war between two foreign powers.

Under a last minute compromise, the arms bar and a provision making it unlawful for United States ships to carry arms or implements of war to any port of belligerent countries or to a neutral port for trans-shipment to a belligerent would expire Feb. 29, 1936. But after that date, these provisions would remain in force.

A licensing system for the manufacture and export of arms and munitions under the supervision of a board of cabinet officers.

Discretionary authority for the president to restrict or close the territorial waters or ports of the United States to belligerent submarines, to prohibit American citizens from travelling on ships of warring nations except at their own risk, unless in flight from a country at war, and to require bond of any vessel suspected to be about to carry men or supplies to a belligerent ship at sea.

South Polar Expedition

Canadian Aviators Arrive at Montevideo for Proposed Flight

Sao Paulo, Brazil.—As expier Lincoln Ellsworth left here by aeroplane for the Matto Grosso jungles on a jaguar hunt, the Canadian aviators who will accompany the Ellsworth-Wilkins. South Polar expedition this winter arrived at Montevideo.

Pilots Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, James Lyburner and Patrick Matthew arrived aboard the steamship Eastern Prince and announced they would test the expedition planes there.

Mrs. Ellsworth accompanied her husband on the hunt. On its completion, Ellsworth will go to Montevideo to join Sir Hubert Wilkins, who is preparing for the new expedition to the Antarctic. They will sail with the aviators in October for the polar regions.

To Recall Legislators

New Plan In Election Laws Promised for Alberta

Calgary.—Something new in election laws has been promised the people of Alberta by William Aberhart, leader of the Social Credit party that swept into power in the provincial election. For the first time in Canada, electors will have the right to recall legislators who fail to live up to their pre-election promises.

It is expected the Aberhart legislation will be patterned after the American recall laws although its details have not been decided. It is probable the act will provide that a recall plebiscite may be held if a certain percentage of the voters in a constituency favor it through a petition. If the plebiscite showed the majority of voters desired a new election, it would be held.

Giant Candle

New York.—A white-haired, 75-year-old artist, who has manufactured some of the finest scented candles in the world, disclosed that he has received an order for a giant candle, to burn 500 years, as a symbol of gratitude to the saints for bringing Mme. Amelia Galli-Curci, operatic soprano, safely through a recent throat operation.

Death In Hurricane

Expect Many Lives Lost In Newfoundland Gale

St. John's, Nfld.—A secret of the sea, Newfoundland's hurricane dead, remained uncounted, but reports seeping into St. John's from scattered villages indicated between 40 and 50 lives had been taken by the weekend gale that strewn wholesale death about the island's coastal waters.

With the storm, its destruction disrupted by the storm, it appeared likely the full toll of the dead would not be known for days. Wrecked ships were scattered all along the island's eastern side; more were stricken at sea without crews, and others, possibly, had been sunk without trace.

Can Pay For War

Italy's Financial Condition Can Take Care For Long Struggle

Rome.—Italy's financial condition permits her to contemplate waging war indefinitely—whether in Africa or Europe—according to sources asserted.

The informed sources explained, however, that Italy does not expect to have to support a prolonged campaign in East Africa. They believed if war comes, it will be a question of one gigantic assault.

Italy has a gold reserve of approximately 5,000,000,000 lire, which has fluctuated only slightly. Due to government control a little less than 1,000,000,000 lire have been spent already for Italy's East African campaign.

Farm Home Fire

Three Lives Lost In Blaze In Edmonton District

Edmonton.—Toll of a farm home fire 38 miles west of here on July 31 was brought to three with the death of Mrs. Olga Adams, 22, in hospital here.

Her children, George, four, and Margaret, three, died in the blaze. The father, Lewis, 52, suffered burns about the hands when he put out the flames in Mrs. Adams' clothing and as he tried to reach the children. Exploding gasoline being poured into a lamp caused the fire.

WHEAT RUST TAKES HEAVY TOLL OF WESTERN CROP

Ottawa.—Farmers of western Canada will lose approximately $100,000,000 on account of wheat rust this year, taking 80 cents a bushel as the average price for wheat, Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of experimental farms, believes.

Dr. Archibald told a local service club he had made two trips to the west this season and until about three weeks ago looked for a 500,000,000 bushel crop of wheat, oats and barley. Now, however, the situation was changed. Western grain fields had been struck by the worst epidemic of black stem rust ever experienced in Canada. Previous epidemics had come in 1904, 1916, 1920, 1923 and 1927.

Rust caused a loss of 100,000,000 bushels in 1916, said Dr. Archibald. He said this was "the year of the great disaster in western Canada when wheat was so badly needed by Great Britain and the allies." It had meant a loss of $150,000,000.

This year the loss in bushels would be greater, although the financial loss would be less because of lower prices. United States farmers had suffered as well to the tune of many millions.

"The condition this year," he said, "is that at the present time according to estimates made about 10 days ago, there will be a total reduction in the west of about 102,000,000 bushels."

Added to the loss in volume would be a reduction in the grades or quality, which would almost equal the monetary loss involved in the decreased yield.

The areas most affected would be the southern half of Manitoba and the southeastern part of Saskatchewan. The line of severe infection extended far west as Moore Jaw but Alberta and northwest Saskatchewan were not affected.

MAKES APPEAL TO STATESMEN OF THE WORLD

London.—An appeal to the world's statesmen, including those of the United States and the Soviet Union, to end imperialism and establish an era of co-operation was made by George Lansbury, Labor leader in the house of commons, in an interview with Havas.

"I would like to see the leading statesmen of the world," Lansbury said, "including Joseph Stalin, Premier Mussolini and the statesmen of the United States and Japan, come together determined to turn out imperialism and enter the sphere of co-operation."

"There is room enough for all, raw material for all, markets enough for all. Let us have common sense enough to share them co-operatively for the advantage of all."

"The whole public opinion of the world stands behind the League of Nations. We agree with France the league has not functioned very well in the past in handling other disputes, but we are also strongly of the opinion it is the only bulwark at present between anarchy and the rule of common sense."

"We are strongly of the opinion if Mussolini needs expansion the goodwill of the league will be exercised to make it a little less than everything it has a right to, while preserving the full rights of the Ethiopian people."

"There should be in the very earliest moment—I wish it were now—a world conference to discuss how we can remove causes which bring about armaments and wars."

"It is sheer folly to go on dealing with effects and leave causes untouched. Though the world's economic resources are enormous, hundreds of millions of people are without the necessities of life."

Fatal Automobile Crash

Queen Astrid Of Belgium Meets Death In Accident In Switzerland

Lucerne, Switzerland.—Astrid, 29-year-old mother of three children, was fatally injured when thrown from a car Leopold was driving. She died in his arms on the roadside, while a village priest gave extreme unction.

The injury which caused Astrid's death, a fractured skull, was identical to the one which killed her father-in-law, King Albert, 18 months ago. A Swedish princess before her marriage in 1926, she retained her beauty in death.

"Her face suffered hardly any disfigurement at all," said Syster Brun, the nurse who prepared the body for burial. "She has a slight bruise under her chin. Otherwise she remains as beautiful in death as she was before the tragedy."

Swiss authorities announced an official inquiry into the accident would be made.

The royal couple were on their way to do some mountain climbing—the same sport in which Albert was killed. The queen was dressed in sport clothes, while Leopold wore an Alpine costume and hobbled boots.

The queen's skull was fractured when she was thrown from the automobile. The car swerved and struck a tree when Leopold took his eyes from the road to look at a map Astrid was examining.

Moving at 45 miles an hour, the car hit the tree, bumped over an eight-inch curb and rolled over among reeds beside the road in shallow water.

War Risk Insurance

London.—War risk insurance was quoted by Lloyds at a 400 per cent. increase. When rates were sought by Scandinavian shippers they were quoted five shillings 100 pounds for a steamer against war damage compared with the recent rate of two shillings and sixpence for a year, twice the time.

MacKenzie, Macleod barrister who was on a vacation trip to Scotland, had won the gold medal in the Gullane Gold Club golf championship tournament with a score of 74, and was runner up in the Morton Hall club's championship matches with a score of 75 against his opponent's 74.

It was Sunday morning in a men's class in a famous church school. "Will you please tell me," said a member to the teacher, "how far in actual miles Dan is from Beersheba?" All my life I have heard the familiar phrase, "from Dan to Beersheba," but have never known the distance." Before the answer could be given, another member rose at the back of the room, and inquired: "Do I understand that Dan and Beersheba are the names of two places?" "Yes," "Well, that is one on me. I always thought they were husband and wife like Solomon and Gomorrah."

Although many may not notice the local flying club's advances, it is very clearly shown by the latest achievement, Tuesday afternoon. The club's instruction plane landed safely at Sea Island airport, Vancouver, from the Lee Lake airport, Burma, with Emil Dypolt, of Frank, at the controls and Charlie Tweed, club instructor, acting as co-pilot. Emil, sixteen years old, is probably the youngest flyer to pilot a machine through the mountains. They expect to leave Vancouver for The Pass on Friday, and with good weather, will arrive at Lee Lake airport that evening.

IN MEMORIAM

Nina Selkirk, died September 6th, 1931.

"Nina is Just Away."

I cannot say, and I will not say
That she is dead: She is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered far into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming: how very fair
It needs must be since she lingers there.

And you, oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old time step and the glad return,
I think of her faring on as dear
In the love of Time, as the love of here:
I think of her still as the same: I say
She is not dead: She is just away.
